Don is working on the graphic for the "Latest Product" area. As we spoke earlier, we would like to remove (or hide) the Latest Product text. This would also give us a little more room for a slightly larger graphic. The graphic will contain some title text that briefly describes the "so what" about the new product. Don is trying one with a transparent background, so it can easily be placed on the red background. If that does not work, he can create it on the same color red background....just let me know.
